

Training on Responding to Domestic Violence: What the Religious Community Can Do

When: Friday, April 29, 2011
10 AM – 12 noon

Where: The Nakamura Clinic
33077 Alvarado Niles Rd., Union City, CA 94587

Cost: Free to religious leaders of all faiths.

Register: Send an e-mail to info@save-dv.org stating that you will attend. Include your name and title.

Did you know that:

- Religious teachings can serve either as a resource or a roadblock in addressing domestic violence.
- Surveys from the U.S. and Canada indicate that domestic violence occurs in 28% of all marriages. Researchers believe this estimate is too low since most domestic violence incidents are unreported.
- There is a National Declaration by Religious and Spiritual Leaders to Address Violence Against Women?

Learn:

What can you do to be helpful if an abusive situation is revealed

- To Become a Safe Place
- To Educate the Congregation
- To Speak Out
- To Lead by Example
- To Offer Space
- To Partner with Existing Resources
- To Prepare to Be a Resource
- To Intervene

